NORTH DAKOTA SNAPSHOT

North Dakota's population hit a record high of 779,094 residents on April 1, 2020, and the state had the fourth-highest growth rate in the nation by percentage, growing by 15.8% from 2010 to 2020. The state is projected to receive over $2 billion more in federal funding during this coming decade, using an estimate of $19,100 per person, per year. North Dakota also turned over the first digit in its population – rolling over from a “6” to a “7” – for the first time in 100 years.
